ISIN: NO0010317282

The fund is managed by Storebrand Asset Management AS (Org. Nr. 930 208 868), a subsidiary of Storebrand ASA

Objectives and Investment Policy

Objective

Delphi Global aims to achieve a long-term excess return by investing in global stock markets.

Investment strategy

The fund is actively managed using the Delphi method, which combines traditional fundamental analysis with trend analysis. The portfolio usually consists of 50-60 large and medium-size companies within a minimum of five sectors.

The manager looks for stocks that can basically show positive price trends. Thereafter, the company's business, management, market position, products and prospects are thoroughly analysed before any investment is made.

The fund may use derivatives to ensure less expensive or more efficient management. The fund is managed in accordance with Storebrand's sustainable investment principles.

Benchmark index

MSCI World NTR. The fund's composition and performance may deviate significantly from the index.

Dividends

Dividends and other income will be reinvested in the fund.

Investment horizon

The fund's risk profile is such that you should have an investment horizon of at least five years.

Trading

Fund units may be bought on all banking days in Norway provided the fund's primary market is also open for trading. Orders that the management company receives by 3 pm (local Norwegian time) on these days will be processed on the same day. When units are sold, the unit price arrived at in the next price calculation is allocated and payment normally takes place within 1-3 days. When units are bought, the price is allocated once the payment has been value dated. The minimum subscription amount is 100 NOK.

Risk and Reward Profile

The indicator above is a measure of the fund's historical price fluctuations in the last five years. There is no certain indicator for future trends, and the fund's rating on the scale can alter with time. The lowest category, 1, cannot be regarded as totally risk-free. This fund is rated in risk class 5, which means that the units are normally subject to large price fluctuations.

The fund deliberately takes different forms of risk in order to increase the possibilities of returns. The assets are divided among several different investments in order to be less exposed to impairment in individual securities.

The value of the fund's investments is positively and negatively affected by the daily trend in the markets where the securities are traded (market risk).

The risk indicator does not take into account the effects of unusual market conditions or major unforeseen events (political interventions, natural disasters, etc.), nor does it take into account the following types of risk to which the fund can be exposed:

Business risk – the risk of failure of the investment approach under certain market conditions.

Liquidity risk – the risk of low negotiability, preventing normal valuation and trading of securities.

Currency risk – fluctuating exchange rates between securities' currencies compared to the fund's base currency.
